Montclair State University
School of Communication and Media Bldg.
1 Normal Ave.
Montclair, New Jersey 07043

Moderated by Dave Kaplan, Montclair State University

Special program open to all parents, coaches, student athletes, athletic directors, etc., exploring how athletes, no matter what their age, use social media to beneficial or detrimental effect. Social media is a powerful tool, whether it's pros trying to create a brand or student-athletes looking to enhance their profile. A panel of experts moderated by Rick Wolff, a pioneer in the complex world of sports parenting, will delve into the evolving issues of social media usage.

Rick Wolff - Nationally recognized expert in sports parenting, author, coach, and host of WFAN's Sunday morning program, "The Sports Edge"

Roman Oben - Former 12-year NFL offensive lineman and currently NFL's Director of Youth and High School Football

Courtney Cunningham - Associate Head Coach of Montclair State women's basketball team and Director of Academic Advising in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Vito Chiaravalotti - Athletic Director of Christian Brothers Academy

Doug Abrams - Professor at University of Missouri and nationally renowned expert on youth sports
